Our Community

There's so much more to an MBA program than what you learn in the classroom – the friends you meet, the clubs you join, the extracurricular activities you enjoy, the leadership skills you develop, and the professional contacts you make. At UNC Kenan-Flagler, these “extras” aren't extra; they're part of what our community is.

Grades

Grading System: H – High Pass; P – Pass; L – Low Pass, F - Fail.

Students who have a Low Pass in more than 20 % of their courses will be academically ineligible. Exchange students fall under the same policy as our FT MBA students. Should a student receive an F, the home school will be notified and the student risks that their visa is in danger.

Course load & Credits

The MBA elective period (year 2) is divided into 4 modules(2 in the fall and 2 in the spring). A student must enroll in a minimum of 3 courses and 4.5 elective credits per module to be considered full-time. For the semester exchange, this sums up to 9 elective credits and 6 courses. A student cannot take 2 courses in one module and 4 in the other, as the minimum course load has to be 3. We recommend students to not to take more than 5 courses per module. Only with approval can a student take 6 courses per module if he is required to do so by his home university.

Generally, a class consist of 20 in class contact hours and 30 out of class (study groups, case readings, etc.).

Transcript

A digital transcript will be automatically sent to the partner school's international office who nominated their students. If the student has a stop/hold on their academic account, a transcript cannot be released.
